SALLY SELTMANN VIDEO EXCLUSIVE - "CATCH OF THE DAY"

Wednesday, 29 January 2014 14:06

It's not often we hit you with a dose of musical awesomeness mid-week, but if something special enough crops up between Tuesdays, we just can't wait to broadcast it to our frankie kin. One of our favourite melody-makers joining forces with a much-loved Melbourne animation maven is such an occasion.

We're rather chuffed to present you with the premiere of Sally Seltmann's video for "Catch of the Day", the latest single off her upcoming album, Hey Daydreamer. Imagine the bubbly soundtrack to a mermaid fantasy movie and you've probably hit the nail on the sweet, tuneful head - at least that's the way artist Isobel Knowles heard it when she started brainstorming ideas for this underwater clip.

The result is a cute-as-a-button animation featuring bopping pineapple trees, duck-diving dames and enough tropical vibes to fill our afternoon with fanciful daydreams of dips at the beach.

For the next few days you'll only get to see the clip here, so pour a glass of something yummy (as long as it's jazzed up with a paper umbrella), make yourself comfy and hit play below.

Hey Daydreamer is due out on February 28th, and you can find out all the important details here.
